

Drama & Theatre Studies

A Level Course Overview:	Unit	Title
The course seeks to engage students through encouraging creativity with a focus on practical work reflecting 21st century theatre practice: Two coursework components and one externally examined paper. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Devising and performing and using chosen practitioners</li> <li>• Group and monologue performances that are externally assessed</li> <li>• A written exam paper of 2h 30mins including a live theatre review and Theatre Makers in practice. This Unit will also include the practical exploration and study of a chosen practitioner and performance text</li> </ul>	1	Devising (9DRO/01) 40% of the qualification
	2	Text in Performance (9DRO/02) 20% of the qualification
	3	Theatre Makers in Practice (9DRO/03) 40% of the qualification
How will I be assessed? The A level course consists of two coursework components, consisting of both practical and written elements and one externally examined written paper

What do I need to join?

Studying Drama at GCSE is an advantage but not essential as long as you have practical ability, teamwork, analytical & creative skills as well as imaginative responses. You should be interested in theatre and plays and demonstrate a commitment to the subject. A minimum of a grade 4 in GCSE English would be accepted to start this course. A grade 5, however, is preferred.

Where could this A Level take me in the future?

Due to its significant academic content, Theatre Studies is recognised by many higher education courses, dramatic or not. The course provides an excellent grounding for those interested in pursuing a future in the Dramatic Arts. Theatre studies students are seen as a confident individuals and effective communicators. Employers seek to recruit individuals who can demonstrate teamwork, analytical, evaluative skills, creativity and self-confidence. Theatre studies offers opportunities to develop these skills.

Staff contact:

Mrs Vicky Rossiter
Mrs Jo Lee-Allan